Each building and each place has its own personality.

They are unique — holding not only the personality of a designer, but the personalities of all the students and instructors who have spent a segment of their lives there.

We are like these places — molded by our parents, shaped and influenced by friends, professors, and the school itself.

Administration

MURAL ADDED TO BLACKWELL HALL

The academic year was highlighted by the addition of the mural "Heritage" to Blackwell Hall and the dedication of the renovated Marshbanks Hall. "Heritage" was designed and given to the college by Douglas Ferguson and was unveiled at a special ceremony on September 8. Marshbanks Hall was named after Virginia and Flossie Marshbanks, who established and have built up a $400,000 scholarship fund. The college scholarship endowment was also expanded this year with the beginning of the Grayson Scholars Program.

There was one addition to the administration this year. Dr. Michael O'Brien assumed his position as Dean of Student Development.

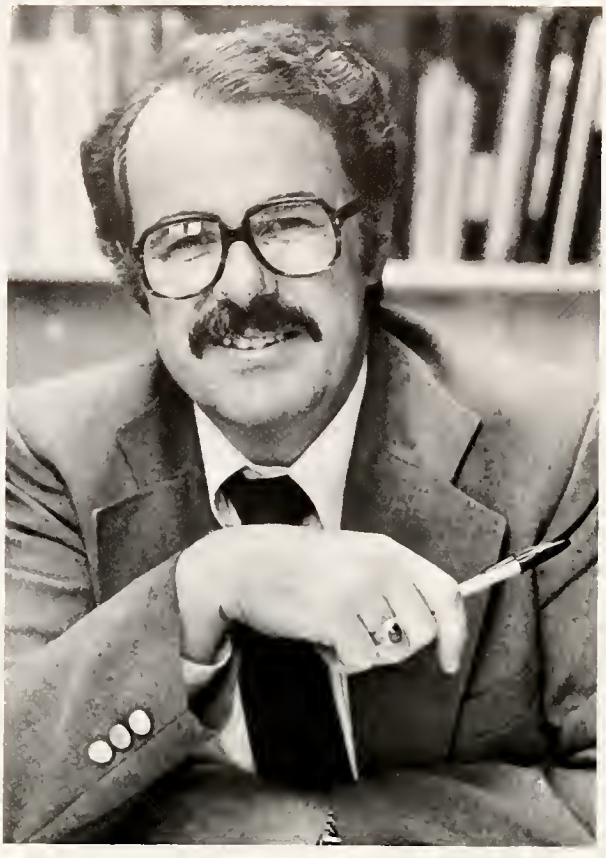

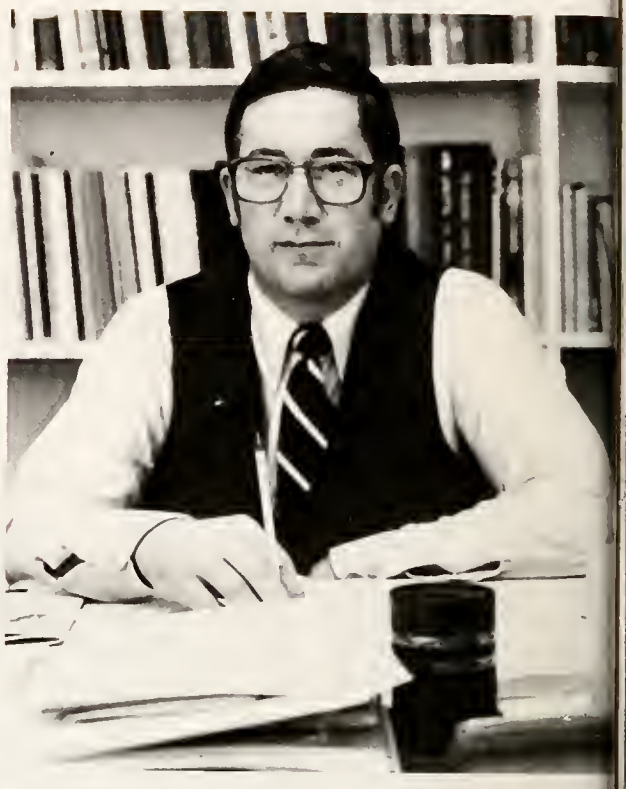

1. Fred Bentley, President

7. Jim Fish, Director of the Physical Plant

Administrative Staff

ACTIVE STAFF HOLDS SCHOOL TOGETHER

The staff is the right arm of the administration. These people are involved in all aspects of campus life. They take on the responsibilities of providing students with entertainment, food, and campus activities. They also take care of an amazing amount of paperwork. Without this group of hard-working individuals, Mars Hill would not be able to carry on as efficiently as it does.

Art

STUDENT WORKS EXHIBITED

The department provided stimulating training for students in creative sutdio work, art education, art history, and aesthetics. The visual arts were represented as an integral part of humanistic studies.

Students exhibited works in the Fine Arts Gallery, the Library, and the Peterson Conference Center. The works of regional artists were also featured.

Biology

INTERESTING COURSES OFFERED TO MAJORS

The department featured much more than hours of dissecting frogs and peering into microscopes. Students spent hours on interesting field trips as well as in the lab.

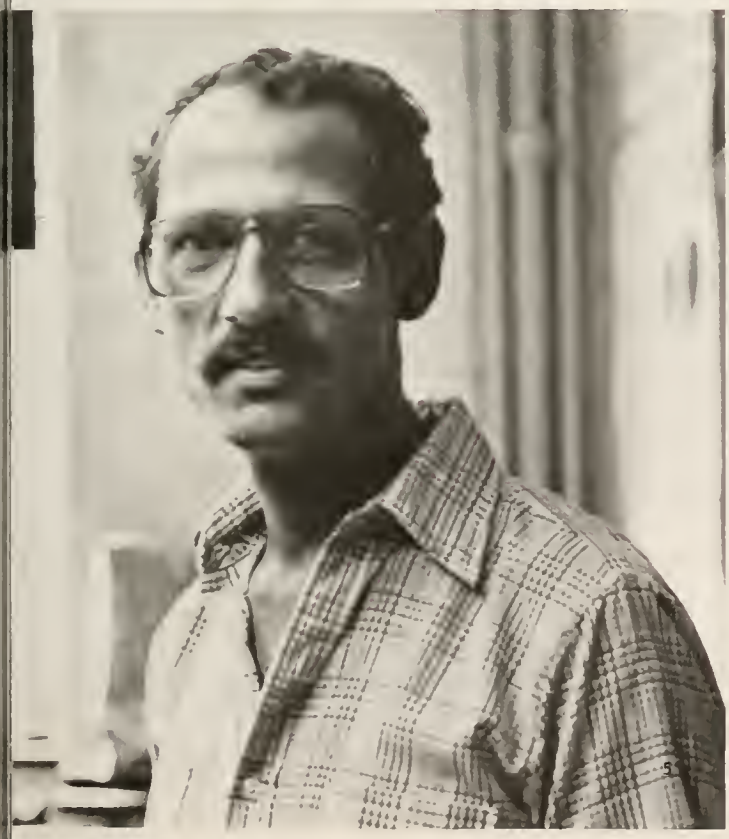

A wide scope of courses was offered, ranging from zoology and botany to genetic and cellular biology. In addition, the biology majors were trained for jobs in such fields as veterinary science, allied health, medicine, and research.

Business

JOE BLAIR JOINS STAFF

This active department, which serves 250 majors, is one of the largest on campus. It offers majors in accounting, business education, economics, general business administration, and office administration.

The purpose of the department is to offer students a plan of study which will enhance and enrich their personal lives and prepare them for worthy service to society, for efficient performance in their profession, and for success in advanced study.

Joe Blair, formerly an accounting supervisor with Milliken & Co., joined the faculty in July 1979. He instructs courses in accounting.

8. Neal McKenzie

Chemistry

LABS FILL STUDENTS' DAYS

Long lab hours and interesting experiments were part of the formula that made up chemistry students' studies. The majors were guided by three fulltime faculty members, who also provided instruction in General Studies. The department provided an educational background for its graduates, which allowed them to compete for places in professional schools, graduate schools, or industry.

5. A chemistry student measures out an 'unknown' in preparation for a lab.

Education

READING PROGRAM POPULAR ASPECT

The department continued to meet its goal of preparing students for teaching in public schools. Professional, academic, and moral development were stressed, as was an understanding of human growth and behavior.

The gifted program continued to be popular, and the reading program enjoyed another successful year.

English

NEW INTERNSHIP OFFERED

It was another good year for this department. A wide variety of British, American, and Continental literature courses were offered; and a large number of non-English majors enthusiastically signed up for these classes.

The department also offered internship credit for students who reported for the Hilltop or for those who worked in the Writing Lab.

Foreign Languages

OBERGFELL JOINS DEPARTMENT

This department served many students interested in the French, Spanish, or German languages. The faculty helped to make foreign languages an integral part of the student's education, and gave the student a good understanding of basic communications skills.

Dr. Sandra Obergfell, formerly at Wabash College, joined the staff in the fall. She instructed in French.

History

MHC ALUMNUS JOINS HISTORY STAFF

Those in the history department firmly believe that a demonstration of competency is more important than course credit. The history instructors strive to prepare students for an active role in society by training them for graduate work and developing skills that are used in a variety of professions. The department offered two new classes during mini-mester. Betty Jolley taught a course on the Southern woman, and a class on urban Appalachia was also taught.

Larry Miller, a 1977 alumnus of Mars Hill, joined the department; and Dr. Harley Jolley was on sabbatical leave during the fall semester.

Home Economics

NEW PROFESSOR JOINS STAFF

The department offered courses of a broad selection in the field of home economics. Classes in child development, home management, and family relations were offered, as well as courses in nutrition, housing, and fashion merchandising.

Ina Owens, a native of Alabama, joined the staff as an assistant professor. She instructed a class in family economics as well as other courses.

Music

PRACTICE FILLS MAJORS' LIVES

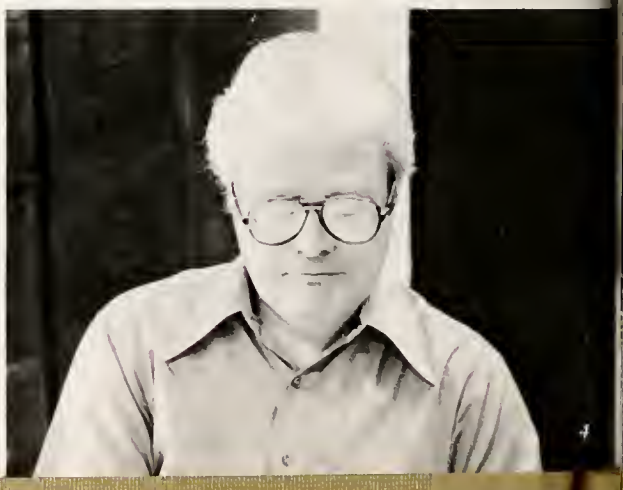

This department embraced a large number of students. The majors spent uncountable hours in the practice rooms as they prepared themselves for juries and recitals.

Throughout the year the department offered recitals and guest performances, which were enjoyed by many. In the spring, the choir and chorus performed their annual concert, a popular feature on the campus.

Religion

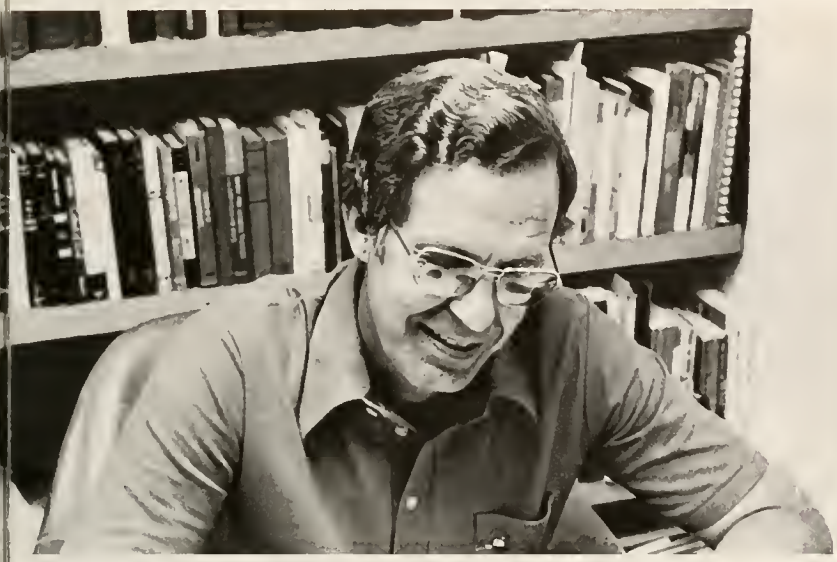

TRIP TO HOLY LAND SPONSORED

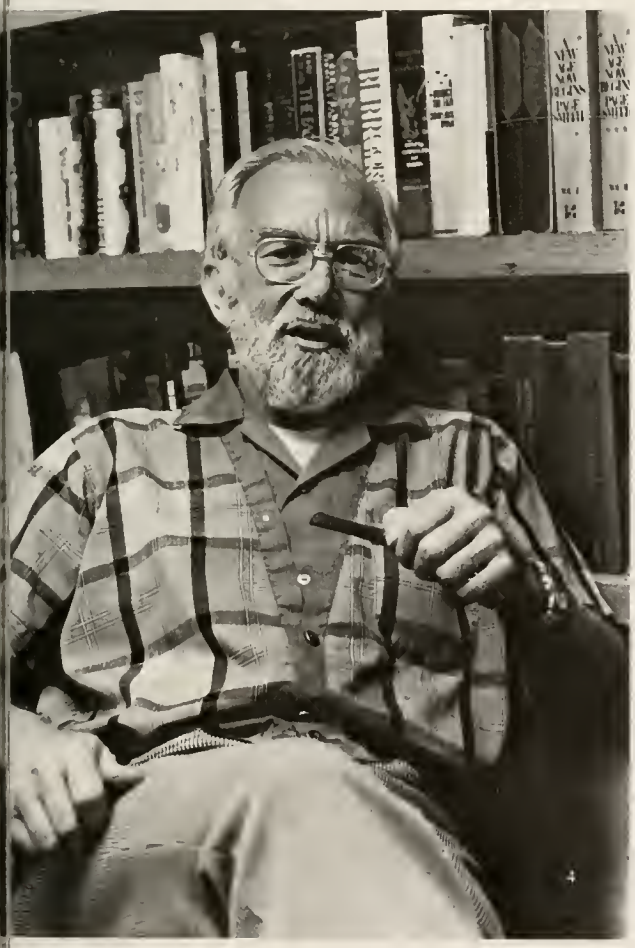

The religion department's activities this year were highlighted by an excursion to the Holy Land during the January term. The department also sponsored and organized volunteer groups to work with a Vietnamese boat family and other local programs.

In addition, this active department continued its successful internships program, allowing education and youth ministry students to gain valuable experience in area churches. Meanwhile, seminary-bound students were given the option of a research-oriented curriculum.

MEMBERS ACTIVE IN COMMUNITY

This department played an active role in the college community this year. Members worked with the Mellon Grant program and brought South Carolinian 'Pug' Ravenel to the campus.

The department emphasized three themes: the understanding of one discipline, study and service-learning experiences in Southern Appalachia, and pre-professional education in selected areas.

Doug Dexter joined the staff in the fall. He taught social work classes and worked with the interns.

Theatre Arts

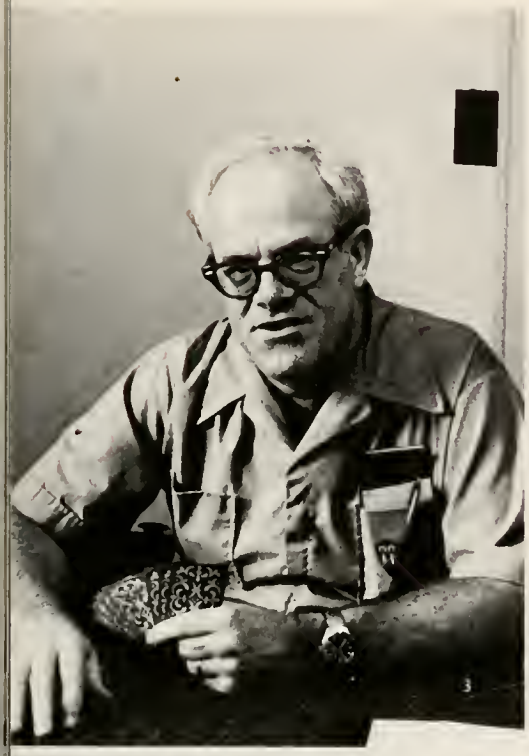

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE VISITS MARS HILL COLLEGE

A word that easily describes this department is 'busy.' It has the goal of preparing its students for careers in all areas of the theatre while, at the same time, providing cultural expeience for the college community.

This year a wide variety of plays was presented. In September, two one-act plays were seen. These were followed by the "Great Musical Review," a selection of Broadway musical hits. December brought Shakespeare to the campus. "The Tempest" was directed by Dr. Bill Martin of New York. During the spring semester, the department planned two productions.

1. Lynn Rimes practices a scene from "Peter Gun."
2. C. Robert Jones
3. Virgil Gray
4. Mark Moore and Patti Bergman perform a dance routine from "Peter Gun."

Student Life

Everyday Life

INGENUITY WAY TO DEFEAT BOREDOM

One of the greatest quests in a college student's life is to find something to do during spare time. Mars Hillians are no exception. Students frequented a wide variety of places in Asheville: shopping centers, Doc's movies, Dunkin' Donuts, the Parkway, and even McDonald's.

Others strove to find excitment on the campus itself. Tennis, racquetball, and basketball were popular pastimes; others preferred jogging or walking "the loop". The Coffeehouse was a popular place to mingle with friends, as was the library. Despite the lapses into boredom, students always managed to find something to do — even studying.

1. Bob Myers enjoys a game of pool in the rec room.
2. Richard Ryan cashes a check for David Driggers in the bookstore.
3. Houston Roberson manages a smile as he gallantly donates blood.
4. W.C. Lanning practices the organ in Moore Auditorium.
5. A couple on Spilman's porch enjoy each other's company.
6. Matt Stroup and Perrin Seigler compete in a backgammon tournament.
7. Biology students conduct experiments in the lab.

STAR TREK

1. A student takes time to get some sun before class.
2. The snack bar is a popular study area.
3. Linda Goforth relaxes before another class.
4. Card-playing is a common sight on campus.
5. Marty Cann gets ready to join friends at supper.
6. Laura Hipps and Cindy Byram practice their music daily.
7. John Stout naps on a lazy Sunday afternoon.
8. Skiing is a favorite pastime among Mars Hillians.

Homecoming

RECORD CROWDS MARK 1979 HOMECOMING

Homecoming highlighted the month of October. Melanie Hall and Chris Watts were selected as Homecoming representatives; and the Senior Class won first prize for its float in the Homecoming parade, which was led by the band.

Mars Hill's Lions were victorious, 10-7, over the Guilford Quakers in the Homecoming game. Meares Stadium held a record crowd of almost 5,000 as the team won its fourth consecutive game of the season.

1. Chris Watts and Melanie Hall beam as they are announced as the 1979 Homecoming representatives.
2. An enthusiastic cheerleading squad greets the Lions.
3. A Mars Hill player gallops across the field.
4. Band members, majorettes, and football players crowd the field during the pre-game show.
5. Carole Hawk is crowned as the Homecoming Queen.
6. Mars Hill fans exalt in a Lion touchdown.

Gateway And Registration

ORIENTATION PROGRAM CONTINUED SUCCESS

As in the past, Gateway proved to be a successful adventure for the freshmen. Guided by their mentors and upperclassmen, the new Mars Hillians quickly adapted to college life.

Registration also was a quick, 'painless' process. Students breezed through the lines and were able to enjoy a day free of the long lines and hassles that usually have been a part of registration.

1. Jim Davidson and Danny Jenrich discuss dorm situations.
2. Upperclassmen greet each other after summer vacation.
3. Students relax before joining the registration line.
4. Students discuss class schedules at corrective registration.

SART

Premiere Featured During Season

Those who came to Mars Hill during the summer were entertained by the Southern Appalachian Reportory Theatre. The SART Company consisted of professional actors, students, and others of the local region.

Four productions were presented during the summer. The season opened with "Shenandoah!" This musical drama featured professionals Stephen Douglass and Christine Yates. It was followed by the premire of "A Happy New Year to the Whole World Except Alexander Graham Bell." A children's play, "Reynard the Fox," delighted all, and the drama, "Inherit the Wind," closed the season.

Lunsford Festival

TRADITIONS ALIVE AT MARS HILL

October was a special month at Mars Hill because of this festival. Visitors came from all over the state to enjoy a wide variety of mountain traditions.

Bluegrass music and ballads filled the air; clogging and flat-footing proved to be ever-popular dances. Visitors and students also took the opportunity to indulge in apple butter and homemade bisquits. Thanks to the festival and Homecoming, students enjoyed a fun-packed weekend.

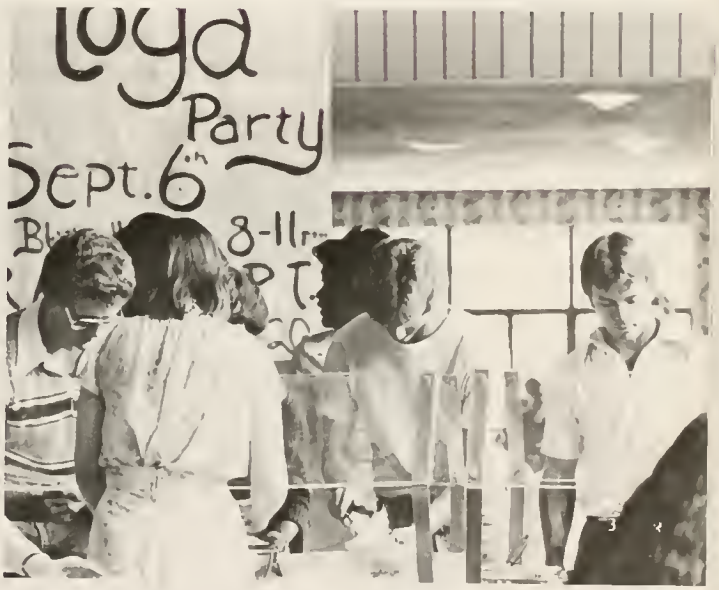

1. Harold Garrison is one of the popular craftsmen who exhibit at the festival.
2. Jane Crimminger demonstrates the artsmanship of clogging.
3. Local musicians play popular mountain music.
4. Gail Wilde enjoys teaching craft-making to children.

Epicure

SALAD BAR POPULAR WITH MHC STUDENTS

Feeding hungry students was a difficult task on the campus, but it was a job that the Epicure Management personnel did well. Mars Hill students enjoyed a wide choice of food in a pleasant chalet setting. The salad bar was a popular feature, as was the ice cream stand. Despite the complaining about cold meals and long lines, the cafeteria continued to be a center of student life.

1. John Marshall bites into a hot sandwich.
2. Students enjoy a leisurely meal and good food.
3. The salad bar offers a wide variety of items to hungry students.

Visiting Artists And Lecturers

Mellon Series Popular With All

The Visiting Artists and Lecturers Series provided a variety of entertainment ranging from the humor of Grady Nutt to the intellectualism of John Claypool to the musical artistry of the Duke Ellington Band. "Pug" Ravenel began the Mellon Series Lectures with his experiences as a political and business leader in the South. Appearing on campus were Nantucket, the Norman Luboff Choir, and the Mars Hill College Symphony, Choir, and Chorus. Also performing were the Atlanta Dance Company and the National Theater for the Deaf.

Plays and Productions

"The Tempest," "All My Sons" Highlight Season

Once again, Owen Theatre was filled with large audiences as the '79-'80 season began. A "Musical Revue" opened the season, which featured a selection of songs from Broadway musicals. Two one-act plays followed, and in December "The Tempest" drew both Shakespearean and non-Shakespearean fans each night. In the spring "All My Sons," a play by Arthur Miller, was featured. It was directed by John Oertling.

1. Bill Martin, director of "The Tempest," discusses the role of Miranda with Gina King.
2. Romantic intentions turn into an argument in the production of "A Marriage Proposal," written by Anton Chekov.
3. Marital problems were the subject of the one-act play "Footsteps of Doves."
4. Ron Andrews appears as Alonso in "The Tempest."
5. Two shipwrecked conspirators plot to take over the island of Prospero.
6. Prospero (Kim English) and his daughter Miranda (Gina King) talk about their former regal life in "The Tempest."

Union Activities

UNION POPULAR SOCIAL CENTER

The Union is the social hub of the campus. Students enjoy a diverse number of activities, such as pool, ping-pong and card-playing. The snack bar and Blue Room Lounge are usually filled with students eating, studying or just relaxing. The Union provides an on-campus place for those students who just want to enjoy themselves and be in the company of friends.

1. Two students enjoy a competitive foosball game.
2. Ping-pong is a popular game in the rec room.

Coffeehouse

TIMBERLINE ENTERTAINS STUDENTS

The Timberline continued its role as the core of late night activity on campus. A new item, sub sandwiches, was added to the menu. Backgammon and card-playing remained the favorite pastimes of the coffeehouse regulars. With the advent of colder weather, the fireplace became a favorite spot for romantic interdigitation.

1. Danny Devlin cuts pizza for 'runner' Wes Early to deliver.
2. The coffeehouse gang passes an evening playing cards.

Football

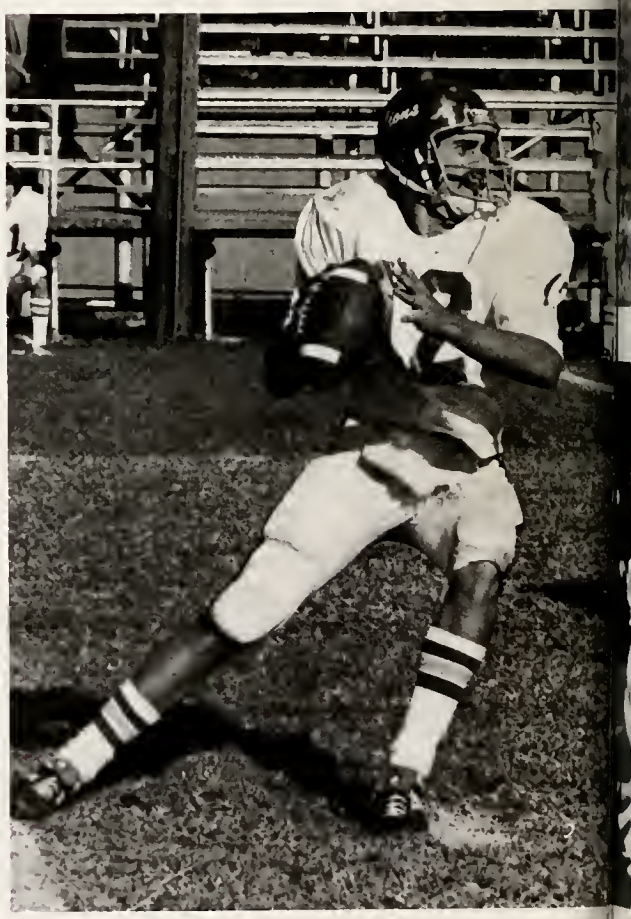

LIONS FINISH NINTH IN NAIA DISTRICT

For a football team which was picked in preseason to finish seventh in an eight-team conference, the 1979 Lions did surprisingly well. The team won the NAIA District 26 championship, finished ninth in the nation among the NAIA Division I schools, and barely missed getting into the playoffs for the national championship. The Lions finished their season with a 7-2-1 record.

Several individuals earned special recognition. Coach Claude 'Hoot' Gibson was named "Coach of the Year" in District 26, and Steve Campbell won All-American Coach Claude 'Hoot' Gibson was named "Coach of the honors as well as being named "Player of the Year." Campbell and three of his teammates — linebacker Johnny Gulledge, offensive tackle Cliff Searcy and defensive end Clayton Curry — were named to the 25-man all-district team. In addition, Campbell, Searcy, and running back Kenny Phillips were chosen on the first team All-South Atlantic Conference. Gulledge and defensive tackle Ricky Williamson were named to the all-conference second team.

After such a successful record, Gibson and his outstanding team eagerly await the 1980 season.

1. Coach Gibson anticipates another Lion victory
2. Clark looks for the open receiver.
3. Mitchell runs for the end zone.
4. King takes a break.
5. Another touchdown for the mighty Lions!
6. Simmons warms up before a game.

Marching Band

SOUSAPHONE PLAYERS DANCE AT HOMECOMING

The marching band had another successful season as they spent long hours on the field polishing half time shows. The homecoming show was especially interesting, featuring a dance by the sousaphone players. Carol Jensen, a freshman this year, was elected the new drum majorette. Another highlight of the season was the singing of the National Anthem by the choir on the field, accompanied by the band.

1. Drum majorette Carol Jensen.
2. Fran Shelton is featured on solo trumpet.
3. Sousaphone players dance while playing "When Yuba Plays the Rhumba on the Tuba."

Men's Basketball

RETURNING STARTERS GIVE STRENGTH TO TEAM

The Lions started their season with an optimistic outlook because of a strong finish in the '78-79 season and the return of four starters. Don Icenhour and John Patterson continued to be strong players. Icenhour has good jumping ability which is helpful in rebounding against taller players. Patterson was selected to represent the United States in a tournament in Brazil for the Jones Cup. Perry Somers and Michael Kelly also remained strong players. Under the encouragement of head coach Jack Lytton the Lions gave their best. A big win for the Lions this year was against Lenoir Rhyne, won in the last seconds of the game. As always, the team looks forward to an even more successful coming season.

1. Co-captains John Patterson and Don Icenhour.
2. First row: Ben McCoy, Fred Dew, John Patterson, Wayne Miles, Perry Somers, Lamar Parrish. Second row: Mark Duke, Jimmy Murphey, Don Icenhour, Mike Clark, Chuck Morgan, Brian Barr, Chip Waters, Michael Kelly.

Cheerleaders

TEAM PROMOTES CAMPUS SPIRIT

The cheerleading squad was an important factor during football and basketball seasons. The members practiced daily to perfect their routines and to encourage spirit among the student body. The enthusiasm of this squad was catching, and their 'Lion spirit' spread through out the college community.

1. One of the cheerleaders concentrates on the halftime show.

Women's Basketball

TOURNAMENT EAGERLY ANTICIPATED

With only four games remaining in early February, the Lady Lions had a 6-10 record. Their slow start in the season was due to the return of only two starters. The girls quickly overcame this problem and came on stronger; they came on stronger towards the end of the season, helped along by the improvements of Carmen Ballard and Teresa Miller. The team was 8th in the Dunkel ratings and were optimistic about staying in the top 12 and performing well in the state tournament. Top scorers for the season were Sandy Odom and Angie Johnson.

1. Carmen Ballard jumps for Mars Hill.
2. Lady Lions: Kneeling: Geri Peterson, Angela Johnson, Vickie McGlothlin. Standing: Janice McDaris, Carolyn Adams, Teresa Miller, Carmen Ballard, Kim Hamright, Sandy Odom, Kelly Bullard, Sonja McGee.

Golden Pride

GIRLS SERVE AS ATHLETIC HOSTESSES

The Golden Girls serve as hostesses for the various athletic teams. Many people think that all these girls do is seat Golden M members at football games; however, their duties also involve promoting spirit among the players and students, painting colorful signs to hang in the cafeteria, and baking goodies for the players. The girls also show visiting recruits around campus.

Volleyball

CHALLENGING SEASON FOR LADY LIONS

The women's volleyball team faced a challenging season. The Lady Lions met staunch opponents such as Wake Forest, Appalachian State, and Clemson; and they participated in three tournaments. The team came away from the Milligan Tournament with a second-place finish.

Six freshmen joined the team this year, building up a strong squad for next season.

1. Laura Latimer returns a difficult shot.
2. Shelia Walker pauses before beginning another match.
3. Seated, L. to R., Carol Conrad, Lisa Cavanagh, Mickie Hoffman, co-captain, Geri Peterson, Kim Keeter, Kathy Blanks. Cross-Country

RUNNERS MEET DEMANDING CHALLENGES

Cross-Country is one of the most demanding forms of running. This year's season was no different. Practice involved anything from a 10-mile run to sprints up Fox Hill. Fence-jumping and snake-avoiding were special skills members acquired during the year. Competition this year included Warren Wilson College and Milligan College.

1. Wes Early takes to the snow in a mid-winter training run.
2. Cross-Country runners Buck Early, Ren Wiles, and Wes Early sprint to the gym after a run.

Track

RUNNERS TRAINING HARD FOR SEASON

The members of the track team worked hard preparing for the season. The distance men, in their striped shorts, continued to run the roads. The sprinters and field events men developed their strength with weights as they looked for the coming of the spring season. With hard work and dedication, the team strove to improve upon their performance last year.

Jack Upton, Wes Early, Ren Wiles, and Buck Early put in their mileage as they train for the Charlotte Marathon.

Row 1: Richard Carter, Jeff Harding, Dexter Fisher, Ren Wiles, Warren Taylor, Tommy Ashburn, Richard Penland.

Men's Tennis

TOP SEASON GOAL OF TEAM

After a good '79 season, the men's tennis team approached the new season with great optimism. Brant McEntire, Ricky Tucker, and Phil Watson were among senior returning players who worked extra hard in order to improve their season. The team was coached by Alex Robins.

L-R: Greg Roberts, Ricky Tucker. Below (left) Ricky prepares for a match, and Phil Watson returns a tough serve.

Women's Tennis

GIRLS STRIVE FOR PERFECTION

The team continued to prove that the girls can play tennis as well as the guys. The team practiced daily under the watchful eye of coach Virginia Hart. The team had several matches in the fall and continued to play well in the spring.

1. Jody Self slams the ball.
2. Kneeling: Joan Wingert, Wendy Turner, Vickie McGlothlin, Jody Self, Robin Ray. Standing: Diane Bartlett, Paula Smart, Cindy Hall, Patty Horan, Rieni Alvarez, Coach Virginia Hart and "Little Bit".

Intramurals

PROGRAMS POPULAR WITH STUDENTS

The intramurals program at Mars Hill provided everyone with a chance to be involved in sports. Teams formed within the various dorms, organizations, and other cliques on campus. During the year, these groups could be seen on the basketball court or on the baseball fields. Special events, such as powderpuff football, took place; and tournaments in racquetball and tennis were also held.

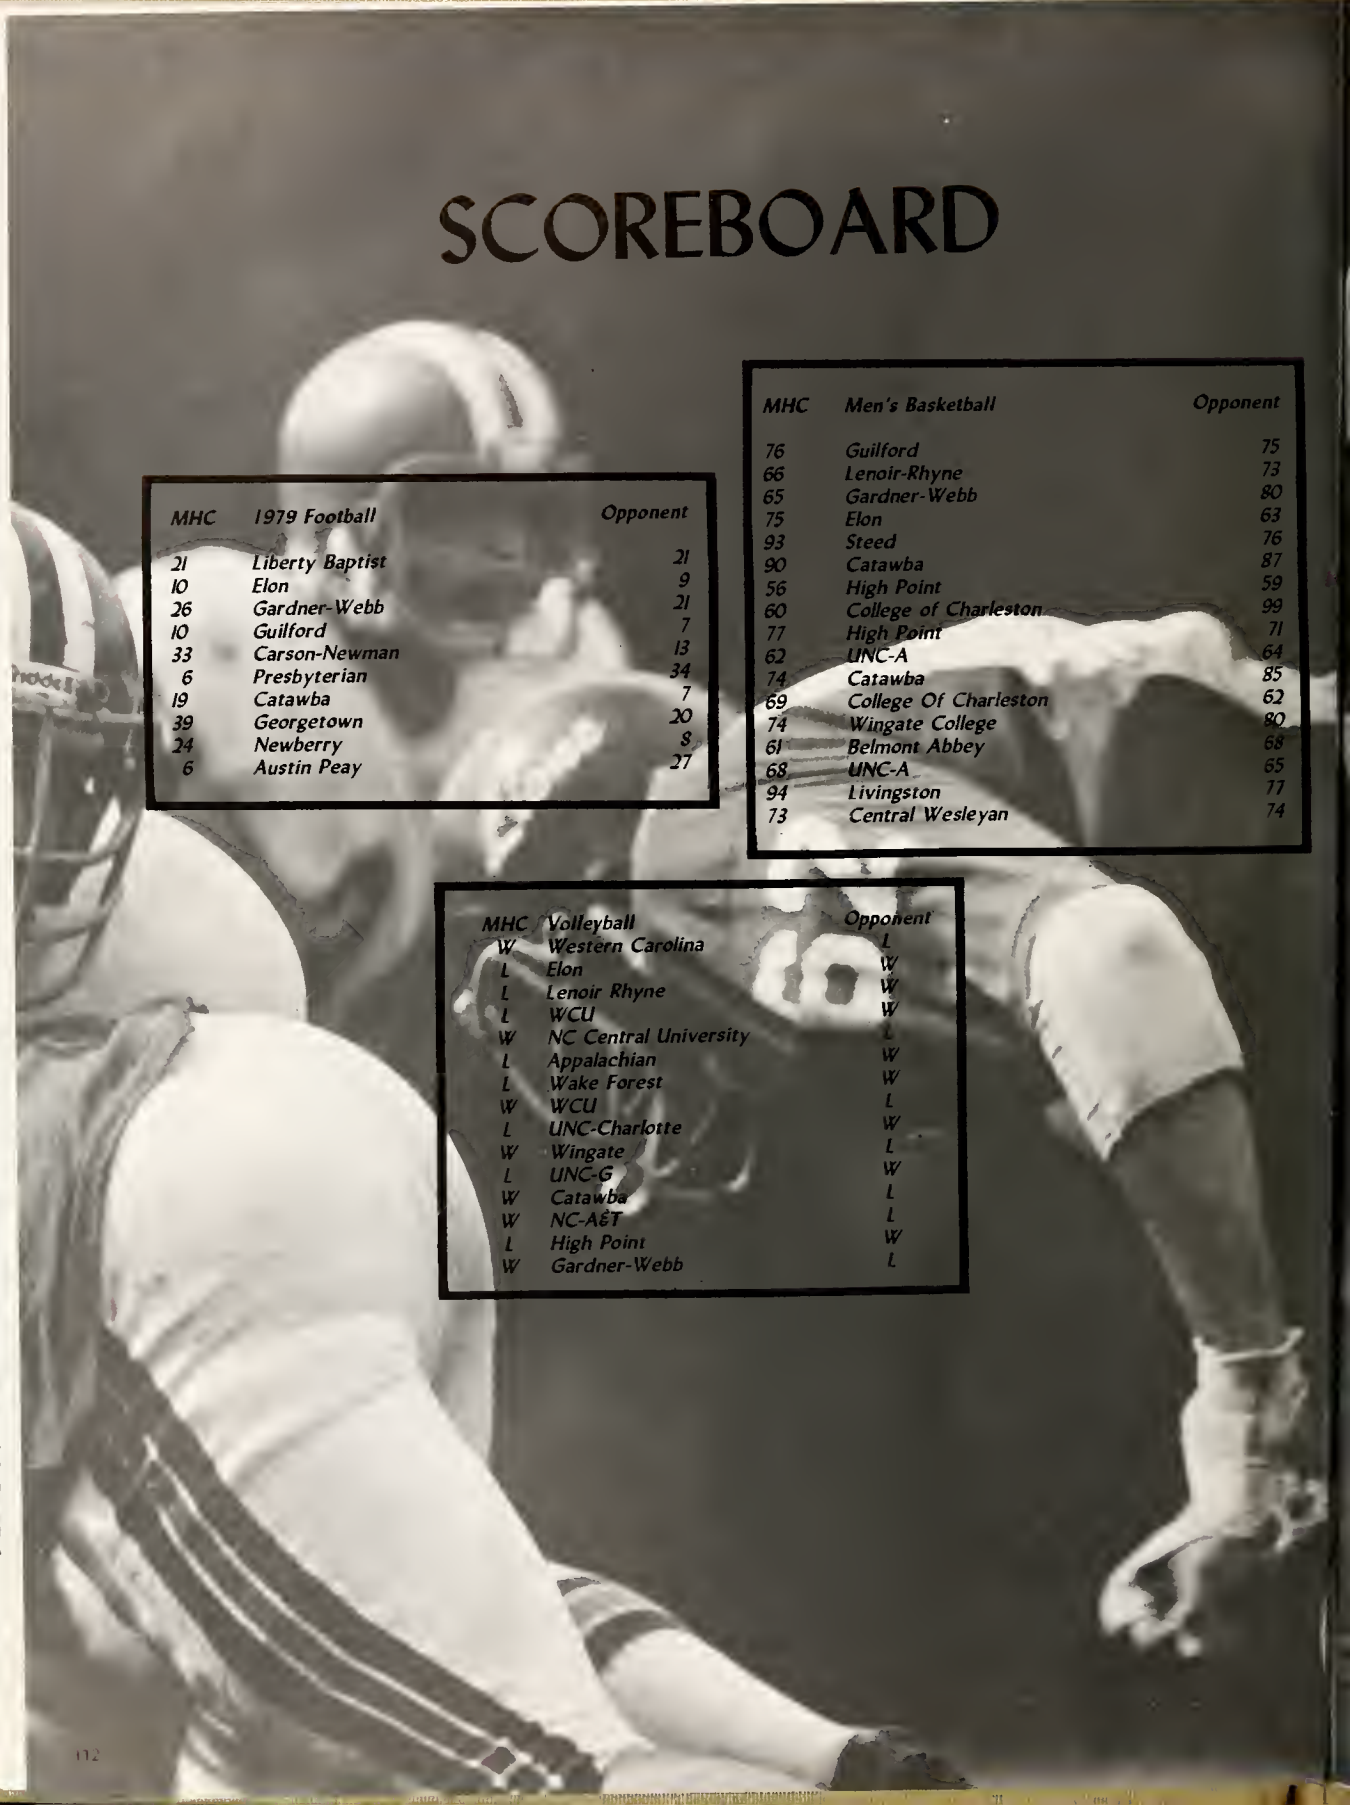

1, 2. Basketball continues to be a popular intramural sport.
3, 5. Students enjoy the heavy action of basketball.
4. The girls get in on the action with powderpuff football.

Student Government Association

SKI TRIP IS SPONSORED DURING SPRING BREAK

Throughout the year the SGA promoted campus involvement with a number of activities. One of the biggest was the formulation and direction of the McConnell Gym Project in affiliation with the CSM and Student Activities Board. The gym was renovated to develop a concert dance hall.

The SGA also established a campus intramural football program and sponsored a student body trip over the spring holidays. Senators worked with the Admissions Office by giving campus tours for prospective students. Amendments were made to the Guide to Judicial Procedures and the overall judicial department was reviewed for the 1980-81 school year.

1. Senate members honor Candi Arnold at a special meeting.
2. President's Cabinet: Tim Carter, David Ward, Channa Conner, Kevin Hopper, Ken Sewell, Andria Walker, Candy Arnold, Garry Fish, Pat Jones.
3. Senate: 1st row: Pat Jones, Candi Arnold, Treasurer, Andria Walker, Secretary, Dean Dalrymple, Parliamentarian, Kevin Hopper, Vice President, Ken Sewell, President.
2nd Row: Ginny Wiggins, Peggy Lee, John Wood, Richard Heaton, Billy Rogers, Dora Cain Mark Fisher, Mike Stroupe, Jill Tobey, Suzanne Forbes, Bradley Johnson.
3rd Row: Roger Taylor, Jeff Williams, Brent Anderson, Warren Taylor, Rebacca Harlow, Lee Gordon, Brent Crisp.
4th Row: David Smith, Jamie Odom, Ann McKay, James Holmes, Larry Hines, Kit Sluder, Brenda Rogers, Lisa Forman, Jenny Stigall, Sylvia Honeycutt, Judy Benfield.
5th Row: Charlene Ray, David Perkins, Martha Crawford, Jim Jones, Sally Young, Ray McConnell, Channa Conner, Derrick Johnson.
4. Judicial Council: Danny Genrich, Tim Carter, Garry Fish, Ken Sewell, David Ward, Mark Annas.

Hearing Board

JUDICIAL POLICIES CARRIED OUT

The Board is selected and directed by the Chief Justice. The Justices are responsible for sitting in on trials and making decisions on the various cases. Three justices attend each trial, and each serves a one-year team.

L-R, first row: Gwyn Fish, Nancy Childers, Tim Carter, Chuck Ballew, Richard Heaton. Second row: John Marshall, Mark Guy, John Holmes, Bob Myers.

Student Affairs Council

POLICIES GOVERN STUDENT LIFE

The Council is the policy-making body for student life at Mars Hill. It is made up of faculty, administrators, and students. The Council meets once a month, and all meetings are open for the student body to attend.

L-R: Mike O'Brien, Richard Hoffman, Roy Wood, Julie Fortney, Andria Walker, Jim Davidson, Gwyn Fish, Charyl Parman, Kevin Hopper, Ken Sewell, Derrick Johnson, Pat Jones, Tim Carter.

Communications Board

POLICIES SET FOR MEDIA

The Board is composed of the student media leaders, their advisors, and representatives from the faculty, administration, and each class. The members met through-out the year to set policies for the media and to supervise their operations. In the spring, the Board selected the new leaders for the various media positions.

Seated: Walter P. Smith, Betty Hughes, Michael O'Brien.

College Union Board

BOARD OFFERS RELIEF FROM STUDENT BOREDOM

The board had a busy year as it planned entertainment activities for the campus. As in past years the Sunday night movies proved to be a popular feature, with more big-name movies this year than ever before. A new feature this year was the Friday night late shows. The first annual dinner theater was held, and a concert by Nantucket was sponsored in the fall. A page information program was begun so that union pages would be better informed of activities on campus. The Union Campus Christmas Party and Spring Fling also remained popular activities.

Union Board: Danny Devlin, Niles Hipps, Suzanne Duncan, Jim Davidson, Anita Eller, Jeff Wade, Cheryl Parman, Michael O'Brien, Susan McKenzie, Derrick Johnson.

Cadenza

CREATIVE EXPRESSION GOAL OF EDITORS

The purpose of this student publication is to create an outlet for members of Mars Hill College to express their creativity in the forms of original poetry, prose, art work, and photography. Prizes for the top entries were awarded in a special premire held in the spring. Co-editors David Perkins and Pam Smith intended for the magazine to serve as a catalyst for creativity within the college community.

1. Co-editors: Pam Smith and David Perkins. Advisor: Betty Hughes.
2. Staff: L-R. Darryl Gossett, Kim Beck, Anita Keller, Vicki Smith, Nancy White, David Perkins, Pam Smith, Lisa Woody, Candi Arnold, Tom Einstein, Tammy Young.
3. Staff members review Cadenza entries.
4. Houston Roberson looks over his Cadenza entry while waiting for one of the editors.
5. Pam Smith and Mrs. Hughes discuss judging processes.

Hilltop

COMMUNITY THEME OF NEWSPAPER

Under the co-editorship of Darryl Gossett and David Bowerman, the 1979-80 Hilltop attempted to keep the students, faculty, and staff of MHC informed and up-to-date on campus, community, and national events. To accomplish this goal, the Hilltop utilized its dedicated staff, the largest in years, to cover a variety of these interest.

Changes made in the Hilltop can be seen primarily in the expanded editorial section. The co-editorials aired the opposing viewpoints of the editors on various subjects, and "Soapbox" gave non-staff members a chance to editorialize on their favorite topic. The MHC campus responded extremely well, expressing their opinions in letters to the editors with almost alarming regularity.

1. Staff members learn layout techniques.
3. Kim Myers expresses surprise that Darryl Gossett approves of her copy.
4. Editor Darryl Gossett assigns stories to an "enthusiastic" staff.
5. Staff members prepare the editorial page of a Hilltop issue.

Laurel

LONG HOURS PRODUCE YEARBOOK

After many hours of diligent work, the 1980 Laurel was finally finished. Co-editors Donna Enochs and Nancy White chose a unique cover, which was designed by Mars Hillian Randy Spear. There were more color pages as well as an increase in page length. The editors and their few-but-faithful staff struggled over deadlines, copy, and layouts, but they managed to pull through and present a yearbook which truly represented Mars Hill College.

1. Lora Watson glances through an old Laurel as Charlene Ray types the index.
2. Laurel staff: 1st row: Sam Tunstall, John Marshall, Donna Enochs, Charlene Ray, Marcia Gouge, Lisa Woody.
2nd row: Tom McCombs, John Wood, Darryl Norton, Lora Watson, Nancy White, Ren Wiles, Ben Mullinax.
3. Co-editors Donna Enochs and Nancy White select pictures for the organizational section.
4. Houston Roberson works tediously on the index.
5. Ben Mullinax works on layouts.

WVMH-FM

PROGRAMMING EXPANDED

WVMH, Mars Hill's FM radio station, "broadened its horizons" this year. The station opened the day with a wake-up show at 7:00 a.m., and continued to broadcast until 1:00 a.m. In addition to playing a wide assortment of music, such as classical, rock, and Christian, the football and basketball games were also broadcast. A news department was also added. Under the leadership of Jim Motes, WVMH continued to grow and capture the attention of Mars Hill students.

1. A basketball game is broadcasted from Chambers Gym.
2. Jim Motes, manager, relaxes in his office.
3. Rusty Enscore, sports broadcaster, "interviews" WVMH secretary Robin Rensink.
4. James Brigman clowns around in the station.
5. Tim Taylor and Ross Newton, music directors, prepare the format for the weekend.

CSM

"THE PLACE" OPENING BEGINS THE YEAR

Under the leadership of Bruce Boyles, the Christian Student Movement became one of the most active organizations on campus this year. The New Beginning Coffeehouse was renovated and was renamed "The Place." New and returning students had a chance to become acquainted with the CSM in the annual pre-school retreat. The group worked with the SGA in the renovation of McConnell Gym, and revival teams traveled over the state and to other states to hold weekend revivals.

1. Students sing outside The Place prior to the grand opening.

2. CSM Council. Seated: Lynn Fleming, secretary; Danny Fincannon, worship chairman; David Smith, advisor. Standing: Jerry Anderson, New Beginning Singers; Bruce Boyles, president; Glenn Jonas, supper forum; Tim Taylor, CSM Choir; Steve Ayers, revival teams; Kerry Hinton, treasurer; Dave Calvert, recreation.

Christian Student Movement Choir

SPRING TOUR IS SUCCESSFUL EVENT

The CSM choir was small in number this year but still remained a dynamic group on campus. Under the direction of Tim Taylor the group had many performances during the year. The group had no set membership and tried to involve as many people as possible. On campus performances included the CSM preschool retreat, community meetings, and campus revivals. The group also sang in area churches, at the Western Correctional Center in Morganton, and the Butner Children's Home. The year climaxed with a tour during spring break.

l. Some choir members perform in Belk.

New Beginning Singers

TOUR IS TURNED INTO A MINI-MESTER COURSE

New Beginning is a group open to students by audition and is affiliated with the CSM. The group had a very active year as they sang on campus and other places in the Asheville area. The group sang in area churches, childrens' homes, and retirement homes. The highlight of the year was the mini-mester tour which was part of the curriculum. The group rehearsed for two weeks then took a nine-day tour in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida.

lst Row: Joey Orr, Karen Overton, Patti Edwards, Lynda Burnett, Donna Sims, Terri Brown, Pam Hollis, Jerry Anderson.
2nd Row: Ross Newton, Kerry Hinton, Chip Smith, Joe Hand, Brian Bennight, Keith Watts.

FCA

STUDENTS RAKE LEAVES FOR THE COMMUNITY

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is open to any student with an interest in the organization and the fellowship it offers. The organization met each week and heard a different speaker, who was usually a student. In November a leaf raking was held for those in the community who were unable to rake for themselves. FCA also had a lock-in in January and sponsored a three-on-three basketball tournament.

FCA Officers: Valerie Valenti, Chris Watts, president, Ame Soldwedel, Lynn Flemming, Dalene Vickery, secretary/treasurer, Carol McGee, Bo James, vice-president.

French Club

MEMBERS ATTEND DIONYSIA THEATRE

This club demonstrated members' talents in several areas. In the Spring, members participated in the Dionysia Theatre at Clemson University. This required learning one-act plays in French and then competing with other French students. The club also worked with the Modern Foreign Language Department in sponsoring Dr. John Rassius, who gave a lecture/workshop on the importance of other languages and on the different methods of teaching language. Members also prepared several French food feasts at their club meetings, furthering their appreciation and knowledge of French culture.

French Club members: President, Doris Wilson; Vice-President, David Perkins; Secretary-Treasurer, Melissa Powell; Cecil Corn; Carolyn Guinn; Christine Harris; Yvonna Medlin; Robin Panther; Marsha Thompson; Cindy Watson; Cindy Rink; Ross Newton; Donna Sims.

Spanish Club

LANGUAGE CENTER CREATED BY CLUB

During the year "La Tertulia" planned the creation of a Language Center on the third floor of Cornwell Hall. The club sought for a stronger unity among the students of the Hispanic language and also among the various Hispanic families in the area. The members also held an annual Christmas party and went caroling in the community.

Marshals

SCHOLARS ASSIST AT CAMPUS EVENTS

Led by Lisa Laney and Mike Sitton, the seventeen college Marshals served at major campus events throughout the year. The group consisted of the top students from the Junior and Senior classes. Part of their duties consisted of acting as receptionists for the alumni during Homecoming and at the dedication of "Heritage" by Doug Ferguson. The climax of the year was serving at the 'great escape' of the seniors, Graduation.

1. Nan Pressley and Anne Rogers led seniors to Moore Auditorium for Graduation.
2. Front row: Lynda Burnett, Rilla Williamson, Anne Rogers, Lisa Laney, Terri Campbell, Ricky Anderson.
Back row: Ren Wiles, Cheryl Hall, Sharon Hester, Pam Kelley, Sylvia Honeycutt, Jeanette Gordon, Anita Miller, Mike Sitton.

Business Honor Club

BUSINESS REPRESENTATIVES SPEAK AT CLUB MEETINGS

This club recognizes scholarship among business majors. During the year representatives from several different businesses spoke at meetings. Members had a Christmas party at the home of Mildred Bingham. In the spring semester members sponsored a service project and set up a booth in the Asheville Civic Center during a business convention.

Seated: David Sperling, advisor; Keith Leggett; Kurt Bomar, Pam Kelley, treasurer; Rilla Williamson, vice-president; Standing: Archie Jones; Susan McSwain; Denise Henderson, secretary; Kim Braddock; Karen Miller; Pam Bailey; Sabra Sprinkle; James Holmes; Linda Royal; Cam Terry; Cecile Holden; Roy Hunt, president; Nan Pressley; Mark Fisher; John Marshall; Ken Sewell.

Logothia

MEETINGS STIMULATE INTERESTING TALKS

This organization is an honor club open to all students who have a B or better average in religion. The club has the purpose of obtaining personal growth and learning for all its members. This is achieved through an excellent student-faculty relationship. Several meetings were held during the year, and members were involved in numerous thought-provoking discussions.

Phi Alpha Theta

MEMBERS COMBINE HISTORY WITH FUN

The History Club continued to be an active force on the campus. Twelve new members were inducted in the fall, which was followed up by a trip to Washington, D.C. over Fall Break. The members continued to meet throughout the year, combining meetings with special dinners. During the spring the group toured Williamsburg and plotted excursions for the following year.

1. Members have a 'sit-in' outside the White House while visiting Washington, D.C.
2. Front: Gregory Crawford.
1st row: David Perkins, Treasurer; Neal Childers; Becky Eller; Mark Denton; Lisa Schmidt; Candy Arnold; Nancy White, Secretary; Elisabeth Crawford; Ren Wiles, Vice-President; Betty Jolley; Ashley Crawford; Jon Crawford.

2. Trombone Ensemble: Joe Nanney, Carolyn Clark, Danny Satterwhite, Bruce Bishop, Jimmy Joyce, Eugene Cope, Kevin Lipe.

Percussion Ensemble

TOTAL PERCUSSION IS STRESSED

This ensemble works together to perform all types of percussion material and appears in various recitals throughout the year. The group stresses 'total percussion' and each person must learn to play every percussion instrument. The five general areas are snare drums, mallett instruments, Timpani, Kit, and Idiophones. The group is always a favorite feature on departmental recitals.

1. A percussionist works hard to perfect his art.
2. Members: Willie Jeffries; Randy Porshia; Paul Babelay; Scott Richardson; Bob Ledbetter; Joy Gentile, director; John Holmes; Chuck Clark; Susan Handy; Keith Redmond.

Dance Company

VARIOUS TECHNIQUES STUDIED, PRACTICED

Dancing is a popular art in many places, and Mars Hill is no exception. Members of the Dance Company spent many hours studying and practicing the various techniques of ballet, modern dance, and jazz. During the spring, the Company presented a repertory that proved their hard work had not been wasted.

1. Dancing classes grew in popularity among the students.
2. Lura Edsall, instructor, Suzanne Powell, Michelene Connelly, Ame Sodelwedel, Leslie Reed, Sharon Bethel, Wales Whitehead, Laura Edwards, Elizabeth McKinnon, Nancy Hayes.

MTNA

CHAMBER MUSIC RECITAL HIGHLIGHTS THE YEAR

The main purpose of the Music Teachers National Na-ional Association is the advancement of musical knowl-dge and education, and to cooperate with all worthy musical organizations. Delta Phi Zeta

SISTERS KEEP THE METHODIST CHURCH CLEAN

Delta Phi Zeta is one of the oldest and smallest sororities on campus. The girls planned an active year with a number of service projects. The sorority supported an eight-year-old boy with leukemia by collecting money in decorated cans. The girls also cleaned the Mars Hill Methodist Church regularly and the goal was to raise money for the Shriners' Hospital for crippled children. Other activities included a homecoming tea for the Sadie Hawkins Dance, car washes and bake sales.

Omega Kappa Alpha

SISTERS BUSY THROUGHOUT YEAR

Omega Kappa Alpha remained one of the most active sororities on campus by sponsoring many activities throughout the year. The sorority assisted Delta Kappa Theta with their semi-annual blood drive and collected canned goods to give to an elderly lady at Thanksgiving. Homecoming activities included a skit at the Lion Growl, an alumnae brunch for sisters, and a float in the Homecoming parade. The annual see-saw-athon was held to raise money for the American Diabetics Association. The sisters alternated keeping the nursery for the Mars Hil United Methodist Church, and in October a sisterhood retreat was held in the coffeehouse. The sisters also raked leaves in front of Blackwell Hall in November as a service project.

Sigma Alpha Chi

SISTERS PROMOTE CAMPUS SPIRIT

Sigma is a social-service sorority which helps to develop a lively, wholesome campus spirit. The sisters were involved in a wide number of activities. They assisted with the McConnell gym clean-up, helped the refugee family, painted lion paws on the sidewalks, sold glass coasters, and participated in the intramural programs. The girls took a break from their activities in the spring and vacationed at the beach.

1. Sigma pledges smile after another day of "Hell Week."

Greensboro Interns

TEACHING KEEPS STUDENTS BUSY

The elementary education internship program in Greensboro continued to be a unique part of the Mars Hill curriculum. The six student interns lived in Greensboro for the years- and taught at three area schools. The program was co-ordinated by Mrs. Helen Schott. Under her supervision, the students were involved in classwork, workshops, and other school activities.

A wide diversity of people, places, and buildings all tie together somehow to create something very unique and very special.

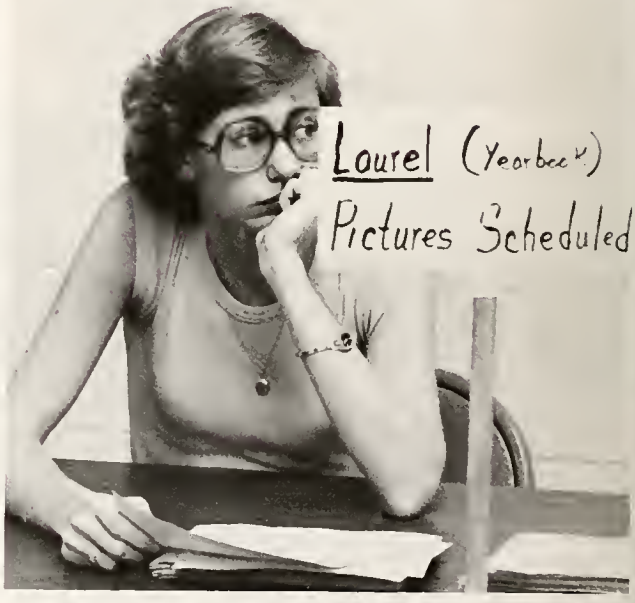

We are individuals.

Yet we are also part of a group. The very fact that we are human unites us.

And the fact that we are all a part of this college unites us.

MARSHBANKS

Time changes everything — people, places, buildings.

Time moves on. So do people. But we take a part of this place with us . . . and perhaps we leave a part of us behind, too.

ΑΦ

Each of us needs a place in life.
Some of us have found it already.
Some of us are still searching.

For the past nine months, Mars Hill has been our place to be.

The colophon is the traditional way of thanking all those who have helped us with the huge task of putting the LAUREL together. If it had not been for these people, we could never have produced this book.

We owe a very special thanks to Randy Spear, who designed the cover. It added a unique touch to the yearbook. We would also like to thank John Campbell, who always managed to pull through for us when impossible deadlines came up, and Walter Smith, our advisor, who kept us on our toes.

We are grateful to Bruce Boyles, John Campbell, John Marshall, Ben Mullinax, Mike Sitton, and John Wood for the exceptional color. Thanks to Marcia Gouge, Darryl Norton, Lara Watson, and Lisa Woody for all their hard work. We owe a debt of gratitude to John Marshall, Tom McCombs, Ben Mullinax, and John Wood, our loyal photographers. Your long hours in the darkroom were greatly appreciated. Others who provided invaluable assistance over the year were our friends and professors. They were always there to support and encourage us and were always willing to listen to our woes.

We hope that this yearbook is a sincere reflection of the past year at Mars Hill College. In putting together the LAUREL, we have striven to make it mean something special to you, the student.

We hope that Mars Hill has been your place to be this year.
